

Utah Academic Library Consortium

The purpose of UALC is to cooperate in continually improving the availability and delivery of library and information services to the higher education community, to the State of Utah, and to partner libraries in Nevada.

Who We Are:

The Utah Academic Library Consortium (UALC) has brought together the libraries in the State of Utah's higher education community – 2 Year, 4 Year, Master's-granting Universities, Research Universities, Public and Private – to create, provide, and preserve the essential knowledge base for higher education. UALC consists of all public and private academic libraries in accredited institutions of higher education in the State of Utah in partner libraries in Nevada.

Founded:

UALC was established in 1971.

Organization:

Most members of UALC serve on a volunteer basis. The consortium is made up of a rotating council Chair, a council made up of all institution's library directors, and rotating council committee chairs. Representatives from each institution serve on active committees, including Resource Sharing, Cataloging, Collection Development, Digitization, Professional Development, Reference & Instruction, Systems, and Public Relations. These committees take on charges from Council each year that will move Utah academic libraries forward.

Highlights:

The Utah Academic Library Consortium's (UALC) record of accomplishment includes the first data network connecting all higher education institutions and the deployment of integrated library systems in all member libraries. Other projects include:

Pioneer: Utah's Online Library

pioneerlibrary.org

Pioneer is Utah's Online Library of electronic resources. It provides statewide access to newspaper articles, magazines, professional journals, encyclopedias, video, photographs, maps, charts, and graphics. Pioneer delivers thousands of full-text resources to Utahns every day through Utah public libraries, schools, universities, and home. Pioneer partners include Utah Education Network (UEN), Utah State Office of Education (USOE), Utah State Office of Higher Education (USHE), Utah Academic Library Consortium, and the Utah State Library Division.

Mountain West Digital Library

mwdl.org

The Mountain West Digital Library is an aggregation of digital collections from universities, colleges, public libraries, museums, and historical societies in Utah, Nevada, and Idaho. Hosting institutions each run servers supporting their own digital collections, and support collection partners by providing scanning and hosting services. The Mountain West defines the region of contributors, but the content extends far beyond the Mountain West and into different fields. The Mountain West Digital Library is funded by the Utah Academic Library Consortium, the Library Services and Technology Act as funded by the Utah State Library, and by individual institutions of the MWDL.

Utah Digital Newspapers

digitalnewspapers.org

The Utah Digital Newspapers project is digitizing Utah newspapers back to the first issues, when possible. The Utah Digital Newspapers database currently includes more than 600,000 pages of Utah historical newspapers, dating back to the 1850s.
